PRESENTS
MANIFEST 2024
THE GENERAL MANAGEMENT CLUB
ACTIVITY-1

Activity Name: - Blow and Build

Objective: - The activity aims to combine teamwork, excitement and business-related challenges in an engaging format. Participants will be tasked with constructing a pyramid out of glasses using balloons, with each glass obtained by solving a riddle. The challenge aims to foster quick thinking, effective communication, and resource management within a time-constrained environment.

Game Description: -

Team Formation: Teams of two members each will be formed randomly.

Resource Allocation: Each team will be provided with balloons and an initial base glass. To obtain additional glasses for the pyramid, teams must solve riddles within a stipulated time frame.

Riddles and Glass Acquisition: For every riddle successfully solved within the given time limit, a team will be awarded a glass. Each glass acquired contributes to the construction of the pyramid.

Time Limit and Objective: Teams will have a total time limit of 2 minutes to construct a pyramid using 10 glasses obtained through solving riddles. The challenge emphasizes quick decision-making, and time management.

Time Limit and Objective: Teams will have a total time limit of 2:30 minutes to construct a pyramid using 10 glasses obtained through solving riddles. The challenge emphasizes quick decision-making, and time management.

Logistics:

Venue: The challenge can be conducted in an open area or a room with sufficient space for teams to construct their pyramids.

Materials: Required materials include balloons, glasses, and a collection of riddles.

Scoring: Scoring can be based on the number of glasses acquired, the accuracy of the pyramid constructed, and adherence to the time limit.

Conclusion:

The "Pyramid Challenge" offers an engaging and dynamic platform for participants to exercise their management, problem-solving, and teamwork skills. This game promises an enriching and enjoyable experience for all participants, fostering both personal development and team bonding.
